Classics

SC11 Introduction to Roman Art and Architecture

This lecture-only module is an introductory survey of the development and major artistic and technical achievements of Roman architecture, sculpture, and painting. The course places art and architecture in its social, political and cultural context. It explores themes such as the representation of the human form, the use of narrative and mythology in art, and urbanization, and it looks at the works of individual artists. It traces the development of architectural forms, such as temples, theatres and Roman baths with attention to many of the iconic buildings and sites of the ancient world, including the Parthenon, Delphi and Olympia, the Colosseum, the Pantheon and Pompeii.

Lecturer: Dr Giorgos Papantoniou

Fee:

€170 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €90.

Lecture times:

Lecture 1: Wednesdays 10am

Lecture 2: Thursdays 2pm

Your lecture venue will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration:

This lecture-only module comprises of two lectures per week over one term commencing Wednesday 22 January 2024

SC12 Introduction to Roman History

This lecture-only module provides an introductory survey of the history of the Greek and Roman world, from the Greek Archaic age (c.700 BC) to the death of Augustus in AD 14. The main trends and issues of this period will be explored including colonisation, imperialism, war, the Athenian invention of democracy, the rise of Alexander, and the emergence of Rome as a major power in the Mediterranean. There will also be discussion of the main historical sources.

Fee:

€170 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €90.

Lecture times:

Lectures 1 & 2: Tuesdays 9-11am

Your lecture venue will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration:

This lecture-only module comprises of two lectures per week over one term commencing Tuesday 21 January 2024.

SC13 Greek and Roman Mythology and Religion Part II

What is myth? How do myths deal with fundamental human concerns about who we are and the world we live in? What is the relationship between myth and religion? Why did the Greeks and Romans worship many gods, believe in oracles, or perform animal sacrifice? This lecture-only module is an introduction to the major myths and religions of the classical world using the full range of primary source material: literary, artistic and archaeological. It explores the functions of myth within society and the various theories of myth. The first half of the course will focus on themes such as the creation of myths in the wider context of Near Eastern mythology, the character of the Olympian gods, heroes and their monstrous opponents, divine-human relations, and the major mythic cycles of the Trojan war, and the Atreus and Theban sagas. The second half of the course will explore the nature of Greek and Roman religion in its social context. It considers key elements of ritual action: sacrifice, rites of passage, festivals, as well as the diverse ancient beliefs on death and the afterlife and the role of mystery religions. This lecture-only course will be illustrated.

Lecturer: Dr Suzanne O'Neill

Fee:

€85 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €60.

Lecture times:

Wednesdays 3pm

Your lecture venue will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration: This lecture-only module comprises of one lecture per week over one term commencing Wednesday 22 January 2024

History

SH06 The Hundred Years War c.1337-1453

The Hundred Years War was in reality a series of wars, on both land and sea, arising primarily from the political and dynastic conflicts of the kings of England and France. It was fought mainly in France but also engulfed Brittany, Scotland, the Iberian kingdoms, the Netherlands and other countries. The first part of the wars is retailed in considerable detail by the contemporary chronicler, Jean Froissart, whose powerful portrait of warfare and political rivalry is set against a backdrop of chivalric endeavour and glory.

Fee: €85 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €60.

Lecture times:

Thursdays 11 am.

Your lecture venue will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration:

This lecture-only module comprises of one lecture per week over one term commencing Thursday 23 January 2024

SH07 Climate and environment in the pre-modern world

Climate history is a rapidly evolving field of study that aims (1) to reconstruct climate conditions over past centuries and millennia and (2) understand how societies perceived and responded to changing climates and extreme weather. These aims can be best achieved by combining evidence from both natural and human archives. In this module we will examine the historical development of natural archives such as tree-rings and ice-cores and introduce how they can be used to reveal climate variations in the past. We will then examine how this information can be combined with evidence from human archives, including written and archaeological records, to understand the social impacts of climate change and extreme weather. In doing so, we will draw upon case studies of major episodes of climate change from the ancient and medieval eras. These case studies will bring us from ancient Egypt and Babylonia to the ancient American Southwest, and from there to Medieval Ireland, Japan, China and beyond. In these places we will examine the role that explosive volcanic eruptions and rapid changes in the Sun's output of energy played in causing extreme weather that was often accompanied by major human impacts such as famine, disease and conflict, before studying the ways in which ancient and medieval societies attempted to cope with these impacts and adapt to changing climates.

Fee:

€85 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €60.

Lecture times:

Thursdays 1pm

Your lecture venue will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration:

This lecture-only module comprises of one lecture per week over one term commencing Thursday 23 January 2024

SH08 Europe 1500-1800: Power and Culture

This module explores the political and cultural history of Europe during the early modern period. It analyses the efforts of reformers to revive their churches and societies during the sixteenth century. It then examines the legacy of these reform movements and considers how cultural divisions as well as competition for power led to prolonged periods of conflict within states and between states during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. This module then charts the emergence during the eighteenth century of new ways of thinking about private life and popular culture and of new ideas about science, society and the self of the Enlightenment. Finally, it explores how these ideas contributed to political crisis following the French Revolution.

Lecturers: Dr Graeme Murdock; Dr Joseph Clarke

Fee: €170 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €90.

Lecture times:

Lecture 1: Wednesdays 3pm

Lecture 2: Fridays 4pm

Your lecture venue will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration:

This lecture-only module comprises of two lectures per week over one term commencing Wednesday January 24, 2024.

SH09 Ireland 1534-1815

This module examines political, social and cultural developments in Ireland during the early modern period within a narrative and thematic framework, starting with Tudor political reform and continuing through to the Act of Union in 1800. The principal issues dealt with include the impact of the Reformation and Counter-Reformation; the wars/rebellions of the sixteenth century and the demise of Gaelic Ireland; 'colonization' and 'civilization' of Ireland by the English and the Scots; Confederate Ireland and the Wars of the Three Kingdoms; the Cromwellian and Restoration land settlements; the War of the Three Kings; the 'Protestant Ascendancy' and the Penal Era; the impact of the American and French revolutions; the rebellion of the United Irishmen; the formation of 'Irish' and 'British' national identities; Irish migration to continental Europe; Ireland and Empire.

Lecturers: Professor Micheál Ó Siochrú; Dr Patrick Walsh; Dr Susan Flavin

€170 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €90.

Lecture times:

Lecture 1: Tuesdays 11am

Lecture 2: Thursdays 12 noon

Duration:

This lecture-only module comprises of two lectures per week over one term commencing Tuesday 21 January 2024

SH11 Imperialism to Globalism: Europe and the World 1860-1970

Global integration is not only a fact of modern life, but of modern history writing. The interconnectedness of distant societies and states, and powerful forces making for social, cultural and economic interaction have prompted significant scholarly assessment. This lecture-only module investigates some of the events and processes which have led to a more integrated world order between the mid-nineteenth century and the later twentieth century. For most of that period much of the world was carved up between a number of inter-continental empires centred in Europe. How those empires grew, exerted control and in due course retreated will be the particular focus of the module. But other processes, too, will be considered, not least the integrating force of economic changes and the spreading power of capitalism across the globe. Attention will be given to the evolution of ideologies of imperialism and social Darwinism and to whether or not such ideologies impacted upon changing global power relationships. The module, while broadly chronological in approach, will focus on a wide range of themes in cultural, economic and political history.

Fee:

€170 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €90.

Lecture times:

Lecture 1: Mondays 3pm

Lecture 2: Tuesdays 4pm

Your lecture venue will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration:

This lecture-only module comprises of two lectures per week over one term commencing Monday 20 January 2024.

History of Art and Architecture

SA09 Introduction to European Art II

This lecture-only module offers a survey of Western painting and sculpture from c.1520. It provides an introduction to the critical analysis of artworks and considers such matters as the iconography of major religious and mythological subjects, issues of style, the functions of works of art and architecture, as well as the range of technical methods employed by artists. Art works are considered in the context of influential factors such as historical period, geographic location, and the prevailing social, political and religious environments.

This lecture-only module comprises of one lecture per week over one term commencing Monday 20 January 2024.

SA13 Islamic Art & Architecture of the Medieval Mediterranean

This module considers objects and places from the medieval world that have accumulated multiple meanings over time. Challenging the narrative of a 'clash of civilisations' between Islam and Christianity, it focuses on the entangled histories of art and architecture in the medieval Mediterranean, examining through case studies the mediatory role of art, material culture and architecture from the 10th to 15th centuries.

Lecturer: Dr Anna Mc Sweeney

Fee:

€170 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €90

Lecture times:

Lecture 1: Mondays 10am

Lecture 2: Tuesdays 2pm

Your lecture venue will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration:

This lecture-only module comprises of two lectures per week over one term commencing Monday 20 January 2024.

SA16 The Art of the Renaissance

This course will look in detail at a number of key Renaissance artists including Sandro Botticelli, Leonardo da Vinci, Albrecht Dürer, Michelangelo, Raphael and Titian. It will examine the works of these artists within the context of early modern society, investigating the conditions of artistic patronage, and pursuing the theme of the 'revival of antiquity' alongside the changing religious demands placed on artists in the light of the Reformation. It will also explore critically a number of themes and questions such as the 'idea of the Renaissance', whether there was a Renaissance for women, or if the Renaissance was multi-cultural? Other topics to be examined include 'the rise of the artist', the theory of 'disegno', artistic exchanges between Italy and northern Europe, the nature of different artistic centres in Italy (like Bologna, Milan or Venice as well as Florence and Rome), the growth of the genre of portraiture, and the experience of dreaming, melancholy or falling in love as described in the visual arts.

Lecturer: Dr Benjamin Thomas

Fee:

€170 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €90.

Lecture times:

Lecture 1: Tuesdays 3pm

Lecture 2: Wednesdays 4pm

Your lecture venue will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration:

This lecture-only module comprises of two lectures per week over one term commencing Tuesday 21 January 2024.

SA17 The Age of Rembrandt and Vermeer

The module will examine some of the wealth of artistic production in the Netherlands in the seventeenth century. The module will be based around the study of Rembrandt and Vermeer as contrasting and complementary figures who represent some of the diverse tendencies of the time. This will entail the study of the development of individual styles and subject matter ranging from history painting to portraiture, landscape and genre painting. The distinct artistic character associated with centres of production, even ones that were geographically close, will be assessed with an emphasis on Amsterdam, Delft and Utrecht. The module will also look at the posthumous reputations of Rembrandt and Vermeer, examining questions of attribution, authenticity, canonicity and rediscovery. So far as is possible the module will use examples now in the National Gallery of Ireland or formerly in Irish collections.

Lecturer:

Dr Philip McEvansoneya

Fee:

€170 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €90.

Lecture times:

Lecture 1: Mondays 1 pm

Lecture 2: Tuesdays Wednesdays 5pm

Your lecture venue will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration:

This lecture-only module comprises of two lectures per week over one term commencing Monday 20 January 2024.

GS01 Gender: History, Culture and Representation

‘The story is no longer about the things that have happened to women and men and how they have reacted to them; instead it is about how the subjective and collective meanings of women and men as categories of identity have been constructed.’ (Joan Scott, Gender and the Politics of History, New York, 1998, p.6). This lecture-only module will examine the histories and representations of gender, seeking to understand how gender is constructed by societies, institutions and individuals, through the critical analysis of texts, works of art and public actions. Gender, its role, its construction and its historiography will be brought together by scholars across the school in an interdisciplinary module. The operation of gender ‘as a tool of analysis’ will be examined in histories of the body, sexuality, medicine, religion, politics, institutions and representations in a variety of texts and contexts which will show the inherent instability and elusive nature of many gendered identities.

Fee:

€85 for the course. The concession rate for the course is €60.

Lecture times:

Tuesdays 1pm

Your lecture venue will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration:

This lecture-only module comprises of one lecture per week over one term commencing Tuesday 21 January 2024.

S002 Introduction to Irish Family History

This is a continuation class from semester 1 – you must have completed semester 1 to take part in semester 2.

Family History isn't just about the past: learning about our origins allows people to get down to the granular details of our ancestors' lives. It enables people to construct their own family narrative and their personal identity. This lecture-only module is taught through a series of eight lectures per term over two terms by Fiona Fitzsimons & Brian Donovan of the Irish Family History Centre (Eneclann). The course covers a broad sweep of Irish history (1650s to 1950s), and is deeply rooted in the sources. The focus is on the records generated by churches, central and local government, enterprises, families and individuals; exploring what section of the Irish population is documented in these records, and how to interpret the evidence. Where record collections were destroyed, do any collateral records survive that contain relevant information?

The fee includes free access to the largest Irish collection online, www.findmypast.ie It will also provide support for all participants to construct a simple family history portfolio over sixteen weeks, including creating a family profile; research to collect documentary evidence; building a family tree; and writing a simple report.

Please note: This is a lecture-only course and does not include access to computers on campus. Participants must have access to their own computers at home for follow up clinics and research.

Fee:

€150 per term/ Concession €90 per term.

Lecture times:

Mondays 6 – 7 p.m. These classes will be taught on campus and will be live streamed on Zoom. Classes will not be recorded.

Your lecture venue and Zoom link will be provided after you have registered for the course.

Duration: This lecture-only module comprises of one lecture per week for eight weeks over recommencing 20 January 2024

SO03 Irish Family History: Intermediate Level

This is a continuation class from semester 1. You must have completed semester 1 to take part in semester 2.

Building on the theoretical foundations of the first year, we begin to move into experiential learning with the option of project work in term 2. We explore the Irish diaspora in all its aspects (military, mercantile, civilian, political and criminal exiles and convicts, adventurers, orphans) anywhere they went, and where sources survive, in Irish and overseas archives. In term two we will turn a spotlight on demographic groups that are more challenging to trace: finding women in the sources; researching Irish Travellers before 1950; and children in care 1840s to 1952. There will be a continuing emphasis on the appropriate methodology to use in family and social history, for a successful research outcome.

Please note: This is a lecture-only course and does not include access to computers on campus. Participants must have access to their own computers at home for follow up clinics and research.

Fee:

€150 per term/ Concession €90 per term.

Lecture times:

Tuesdays 6 – 7 p.m. LIVE ON ZOOM

Your Zoom link will be provided after you have registered for the course.
